How do I display or print my device's total counter?

The total counter shows the total number of copies, printouts, etc. that your device has made.

If you are using a color device, there is one total counter for black and white pages, and a separate total counter for color pages.

If you are using a black and white device, there is one total counter for all output.

To display or print the total counter, follow these steps:

Display or print the counter from the device

To display or print the counter for single or multiple users, follow the appropriate procedure:
